FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS, AND RECOMMENDATION

Based on the relevant filings and applicable law, this habeas case should be dismissed without prejudice for failure to prosecute or follow an order of the court.

I. BACKGROUND

On April 5, 2022, correspondence was received from the petitioner, an inmate currently incarcerated in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, which appeared to challenge his detention. (See doc. 3.) It was liberally construed as a federal petition for writ of habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2254. (See doc.4.) By Notice of Deficiency and Order dated April 8, 2022, the petitioner was notified that if he intended to file a federal petition for writ of habeas corpus under § 2254, he had not filed it on the appropriate form and paid the $5.00 filing fee or submitted an application to proceed in forma pauperis (IFP). (See id.) Attached to the order were copies of the § 2254 habeas petition form and an IFP application. (See id.) The order specifically advised the petitioner that he must file his § 2254 petition on the appropriate form and either pay the filing fee or file an IFP application within 30 days, and that a failure to do so could result in the dismissal of his case. Id. The notice was mailed to the address provided by the petitioner.

On April 27, 2022, the notice was returned and marked “Not deliverable as Addressed

¹ By Special Order No. 3-251, this habeas case has been automatically referred for findings and recommendation.

Unable to Forward”. (See doc. 6.) A prior mailing to the petitioner with instructions for pro se litigants was also returned. (See doc. 5.) The petitioner has not filed any notice of a change of address. More than thirty days from the date of the notice have passed, but the petitioner has still not filed his § 2254 habeas petition on the appropriate form, paid the filing fee, filed an IFP application, or filed anything else in this case, and mailing to the address he provided have been returned as undeliverable.

II. INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

Rule 41(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure permits a court to dismiss sua sponte an action for failure to prosecute or follow orders of the court. McCullough v. Lynaugh, 835 F.2d 1126, 1127 (5th Cir. 1988). This authority flows from a court’s inherent power to control its docket, prevent undue delays in the disposition of pending cases, and avoid congested court calendars. Link v. Wabash R.R. Co., 370 U.S. 626, 629-31 (1962). The petitioner failed to provide any notice of his change in address, and court orders have been returned as undeliverable. He has failed to comply with the order that he file his § 2254 petition on the appropriate form and either pay the filing fee or submit an IFP application within 30 days despite a warning that failure to do so could result in dismissal of the case, and he has not filed anything else in the case. Because the petitioner has provided no means for the Court to contact him and failed to follow a court order or otherwise show that he intends to proceed with this case, it should be dismissed under Rule 41(b) for failure to prosecute or follow orders.

III. RECOMMENDATION

This case should be dismissed without prejudice under Fed. R. Civ. P. 41(b) for failure to prosecute or follow an order of the court, unless the petitioner files his § 2254 habeas petition on the appropriate form and either pays the filing fee or files an IFP application within the time for objecting to this recommendation or by some other deadline set by the Court.

SIGNED this 31st day of May, 2022.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SERVICE AND NOTICE OF RIGHT TO APPEAL/OBJECT

A copy of these findings, conclusions and recommendation shall be served on all parties in the manner provided by law. Any party who objects to any part of these findings, conclusions and recommendation must file specific written objections within 14 days after being served with a copy. See 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1); Fed. R. Civ. P. 72(b). In order to be specific, an objection must identify the specific finding or recommendation to which objection is made, state the basis for the objection, and specify the place in the magistrate judge's findings, conclusions and recommendation where the disputed determination is found. An objection that merely incorporates by reference or refers to the briefing before the magistrate judge is not specific. Failure to file specific written objections will bar the aggrieved party from appealing the factual findings and legal conclusions of the magistrate judge that are accepted or adopted by the district court, except upon grounds of plain error. See Douglass v. United Servs. Automobile Ass'n, 79 F.3d 1415, 1417 (5th Cir. 1996).
